The Curse of Surfing.

Many many years ago, when the world was still flat, but the dinosaurs were already gone, the greatest wizard of the world was seen living in the caves of the southern part of a land today known as Portugal, more specifically in what's now known as The Algarve.

Many pilgrims would come to seek his wisdom, coming from all corners of the globe. One day, a King came to visit him, he had everything in his life, he was powerful, rich... but somehow he was never satisfied. The wizard ZZ took the king to the cliffs and whispered to the ocean: Zimzala, Zimzala, Zimzala...Zimzaalaaa!!!!

The king, who did not believe in magic, felt the need to jump in the ocean the day after. He felt that need again and again, even stronger than the days before. This feeling became his reason to live, letting everything go... swimming and playing in the waves, jumping from the cliffs, fishing what he could and sleeping in those beautiful caves.

He finally had everything he needed living for 500 years..

The myth says his ghost can be seen in full moon nights along the Algarve Coastline.

The curse of ZIMZALA still lives in those with the desire to be free on the ocean...
